You Don't Can Food!

You may, once in a while, to show your skill and make use of some plentiful food. Then you realize how much hard work is involved: how wonderful it is to just go to your grocer's and buy the best of foods, more perfectly canned than you can produce them for all your work. It's old fashioned too, to drudge over tub and board at home: the modern way is to send us your laundry . . .

State Guardsmen Reviewed At Dracut

The Andover men of the state guard spent Sunday at the Dracut rifle range. Colonel Franklin Gibbs was on hand for the first review of the third battalion composed of Companies K, L and M of Lawrence, and I of Haverhill. Company L, captained by Supt. of Schools Kenneth L. Sherman, put on a drill of interior guard duty and received an exceptionally favorable comment from Major McIntyre for their splendid work. In other parts of the program, a demonstration was put on by the Lowell police force of a riot squad and of the use of tear gas. Company H demonstrated the school of the squad and Company M, the school of the platoon.

FRONT COVER

Jimmy Deveaux may some day take Joe Louis' place in pugilistic circles, but unless he puts those gloves of his up where they'll do some good on his own private little defense program, he'll take the same place on the canvas that most of Joe's opponents have taken.

Jimmy, whom Donald Look's camera caught in a particularly story-telling expression, was one of a group of youngsters who took part in the annual boxing tourney at the Central playground last Friday night. The glove that is making the impression on Jimmy's jaw is on the fist of Charley Brennan.

Phones To Remain In Status Quo

Another "Finis" has been written to the telephone toll question. The Department of Public Utilities, apparently basing its decision on its own poll rather than the privately conducted poll, turned down petitions for an abolition of toll charges, this being the fourth time in the past fifteen years.

The commission reported that the telephone company expressed itself as willing to supply the type of service that the majority of people in Andover wanted, but the commission's poll showed that a majority desired the present set-up.

The seven-page report of the commission went over the case in detail, and then explained the reason for toll charges: toll service being a service used by a minority in the exchange, a special service and as such one which should be paid for only by those using it. "If special services of any type are not charged for in accordance with the cost of maintaining such services, then the minority would eventually benefit at the cost of the majority." In the Andover case, as shown by the poll, "it is the minority who would have been the recipients of the benefits of a change," the commission concluded.

Chairman Shepard In Coast Guard

Another of Andover's citizens joined the defense activity this week. He isn't the first Andover citizen to join, but he is the first Andover citizen, none less than the chairman of the Board of Selectmen, Howell F. Shepard.

His yacht, the Mother Goose, isn't the Mother Goose any more, and for all practical purposes it isn't his. It has been commandeered by the Coast Guard, and chances are that if you try to enter Newport Harbor a boat known by number only would accost you. On the boat would be Howell Shepard of the Coast Guard. On his shore leaves he is still actively a town father.

QUESTION

When is a good fisherman a poor sport?

ANSWER

When he catches more flounders and mackerel than he or his friends and neighbors can use and then deposits them off High street near the dump where the 4-H Club is working to improve the grounds.

This happened this week according to a report made to the Board of Health which was called in to abate the nuisance. Similar cases will be referred to the Police Department for drastic action.

Andover Residents At British Excursion

Last Sunday an enjoyable and successful picnic for British War Relief was held at Old Orchard Beach, Me., with many Andover people attending. The feature events of the day were a parade and a soccer game between the sailors of a H. M. S. battleship and submarine. The encounter was won by the battleship, and it was one time when a battlewagon proved its prowess over a submarine. A cup was presented to each team as a memento. The winners who won by a 1-0 score were presented with a larger cup. During the trip a collection was taken up for the sailors and presented to them to be used for pocket money.

WEDDINGS

Towne-Bruner

In a pretty ceremony conducted by Rev. Frederick B. Noss on Saturday afternoon in the South
Church, Miss Hazel Elvira Towne
became the bride of Mr. Harold Taylor Bruner. The former Miss
Towne is the daughter of Mrs.
Edward Towne, Rocky Hill road,
Andover, and the late Edward Towne of Buenos Aires, Argentina.
The groom is the son of Mrs. Harold Taylor Bruner, 32 Hopkins street, Hartford, Conn., and the late Mr. Harold Bruner.

The wedding march and also the selections before the wedding
were rendered by William Noble.

The bride, wearing a princess style gown of white ninon paneled with lace, was given away by her uncle, Warren A. Baker. A finger tip veil of illusion fell from the floral coronet. She carried white roses grouped around a white orchid.

The maid of honor was Miss Alice Nestler of Ridgewood, N. J., wearing a baby blue crepe chiffon gown with bishop sleeves and with lace inserts at bodice and on sleeves.

Her bridesmaids were Miss Martha Thomson and Miss Gloria Ver-rette of Andover, Miss Berta Carolyn Bruner and Miss Phyllis Baker of Greenwood, Conn. They wore gowns of ninon, two being peach
and two orchid, and wore floral tiaras. Their bouquets were gladioli. The little flower girl was Betty Sparks of Andover, wearing a peach colored frock with puffed sleeves and full skirt and carrying a basket of rose petals.

Mr. Bruner had for his best man
Mr. William Galloway of Melrose.
The ushers were Robert Towne,

DEATHS

Funeral services for Eaton Jenkins, age 77, of 70 North Main street, who died Tuesday, July 22, at the Lawrence General Hospital, were held Sunday, July 27, at the Lundgren funeral home. Rev. Julius S. Mitchell, pastor of the Third Baptist Church of Lawrence, officiated. Interment took place in Spring Grove Cemetery, where committal services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Mitchell. The bearers were Lemuel Brown, Charles Sayles, Samuel Gilliard, Albert Saunders, Benjamin Lawrence and James Chandler.

Mr. Jenkins was a familiar figure on the streets of Andover, having lived here 43 years; he was a man of sterling qualities, industrious and honest and owner of valuable property in Andover. He was loved by many and held in high esteem by all who knew him. He was always ready to help those less fortunate than himself. He will be missed by many.

William L. Woodward, 70, of 162 North Main street, superintendent of carding at the Marland Mills of the M. T. Stevens Co., died Sunday at his home after an illness of three weeks.

Mr. Woodward was born in Detroit, Me., on April 25, 1871. For 56 years he was in the textile business, beginning his career in Pittsfield, Me., moving from there to Lowell, and Wilton, N. H., and then settling in Andover 23 years ago.

Sluggers' Slugging Delights Spectators
At both the Central and Shawsheen playgrounds the annual boxing card was presented last Friday evening and with them as usual was presented a lot of fun. Slugging was in order and slug they did, but the big gloves couldn't make much of an impression.

At the Central playground James Bisset acted as promoter and Edward Naylor as referee. Timmer James Doherty at Central stopped the fights at two rounds. At Shawsheen, Benjamin Dimlich refereed while Romeo King acted as timer. These bouts went three rounds.

The boxing card was as follows: Central: Charles Brennan vs. James Deveaux; William Stewart vs. Andrew Vannett; David Van-nett vs. W. Winward; Barry Greco vs. Robert Dea; George Le-febvre vs. Joseph Brennan; Paul Pitman vs. Robert Fredrikson; Joseph Clancy vs. William Clancy; Fred Dwyer vs. John Winters; Hugh Eldred vs. Leo Ruhl; Francis Brennan vs. Robert Brennan; John Yancy vs. David Spencer; John Craig vs. Herbert Deveaux; William Ruel vs. John Collins.

Shawsheen: John Spinella vs. Fred Cole; Henry Bowdin vs. Fred Yungebauer; Robert King vs. Dean Carmichael; George Jalbert vs. John Burns; Raymond Richard vs. Louis Kralle; Louis Allen vs. Kenneth Thomson; Robert Bellisle vs. Ernest Avery; Charles Koza vs. Thomas Wilkinson; Frank Foss vs. Earl Baker; Paul Thomson vs. Henry Bowdin; Ernest Avery vs. John Burns; Raymond La Rosa vs. John Spinella; George Avery vs. Robert King.

Shawsheen Annexed By Lawrence?

One of those ideas which come forth every once in a while from the Lord only knows where came forth the past week when it was suggested, apparently as an aftermath of the telephone toll charge elimination defeat, that Lawrence should annex Shawsheen!

The article which made this suggestion stated: "Shawsheen was a gift to Andover." Historically and every way else that statement is off. Shawsheen was Frye village, and Frye village was a pretty nice piece of old Andover, as nice a piece of old Andover as Shawsheen is a piece of new Andover. Certainly because a section of a town is developed into a beautiful model village is no reason why another city should annex it. Furthermore, who gave Shawsheen to Andover, if it was a gift? Certainly not Lawrence, for a goodly part of Lawrence used to be part of Andover, and not vice versa.

"Geographically it is as much a part of Lawrence as of Andover," the article continued! Sounds just a bit like Hitler's protective custody or desire for lebensraum coming on. To grant that reasoning would be to permit of further annexations so that Andover would no longer be Andover. Tewksbury could take West Parish, the part that Lawrence didn't take; North Andover might like a slice, and North Reading could take over the Academy and environs. And Wilmington would absorb Ballardvale.

"A survey probably would show that the business and social residents of a majority of the residents are in Lawrence rather than Andover." And that doesn't prove annexation desirable. Just because some of the nicer people in Lawrence decide to live in Andover is no reason for Lawrence to try to get them back by annexation.

And here's the prize! "When it comes to elections these residents, who are duly acquainted with Lawrence politics, vote blindly for Andover candidates whom they never see or meet." Well, from what we read and hear, it would be better to vote blindly for an Andover candidate than to vote with your eyes wide open for a Lawrence candidate. We don't believe, either, that the majority of Lawrence's voters know the persons for whom they're voting; we refuse to believe that of Lawrence's voters.

Out to sea

but not
out of touch

Some four hundred ships sailing in New England coastal waters have regular telephone service...just like us landlub-bers. Of course, they don't trail telephone wires from the stern.
The New England Telephone
Company's Coastal Harbor Radio Station WOU furnishes a radio path to land telephone lines.

These floating subscribers not only can telephone home or to friends or to business associates on land but also can get weather reports. Twice a day Telephone Station WOU broadcasts weather information furnished by the United States Coast Guard. Also, storm warnings from the Coast Guard are broadcast at two-hour intervals.

So whether you are sailing or plain land-bound, you are always in touch by telephone anywhere in New England.
